

Helpful links for professionals and patients

Professional organizations

International Continence Society

<http://www.ics.org/>

International Urogynecological Association

<http://www.iuga.org/>

Australian Continence Exchange – a professional organization for all types of providers. Many free resources, educational offerings and practice guidelines.

<http://www.continenceexchange.org.au/>

International pelvic pain society

<http://pelvicpain.org/>

Cochrane Incontinence Review Group – many high level reviews are done by this group on conservative treatment. This web site does link to summary statements and can aid in searching if you already have a Cochrane account.

<http://incontinence.cochrane.org/welcome>

Patient and professional organizations

The Simon Foundation for Continence – supporting patients and innovation in the treatment of incontinence

<http://www.simonfoundation.org/>

National Association for Continence – patient and professional resources

<http://www.nafc.org/>

Continence product advisor – independent, research based advice for patients and professional on products related to continence. A collaboration of ICI and ICS

<http://www.continenceproductadvisor.org/>

Home Delivery Supply Company – very helpful, in person advice on products. Sometimes sends samples. Delivered in bulk to patients home.

<http://www.hdis.com/>

Kimberly-Clark professional support program – free samples and assistance ordering products for patients.

<https://www.dependprofessional.com.au/home.aspx>